

Air New Zealand – Kia Ora magazine May 2013

Wild Behaviour

Trevor Penfold (Perfect Planet Publishing, $58)

It's difficult to imagine the degree of patience required to capture the behaviour and intimate detail revealed in some of these incredible photographs of New Zealand wildlife. Penfold exposes the secret lives of some of our birds and animals, from tiny droplets of water on a Fiordland crested penguin to the dental work of a New Zealand sea lion, from the clown-like antics of a couple of young and fluffy variable oystercatchers to the grace – and aggression – of the Australasian gannet. It's all gripping stuff. Camera buffs will be delighted by the full technical info at the back, and everyone will enjoy the stories behind the images.

Wild Behaviour

Trevor Penfold (Perfect Planet Publishing, $58)

It's difficult to imagine the degree of patience required to capture the behaviour and intimate detail revealed in some of these incredible photographs of New Zealand wildlife. Penfold exposes the secret lives of some of our birds and animals, from tiny droplets of water on a Fiordland crested penguin to the dental work of a New Zealand sea lion, from the clown-like antics of a couple of young and fluffy variable oystercatchers to the grace – and aggression – of the Australasian gannet. It's all gripping stuff. Camera buffs will be delighted by the full technical info at the back, and everyone will enjoy the stories behind the images.

by Shelley Howells